LANDSCAPE COMPANY STAYS AHEAD OF THE GAME

Leading landscaping and irrigation company Jardim Vista remains true to its philosophy of providing high-quality service and beautiful landscapes as it launches a number of new products this year.

Situated near Quinta do Lago in Almancil, the well-respected landscape company has always endeavoured to lead the way in innovative design since it first began operating more than 20 years ago, with numerous projects across the country to its name.

With this prerogative of keeping ahead of the market, Jardim Vista has introduced new features for 2011 to further enhance its position in the Portuguese and international markets.

Now the exclusive distributor of Westminster outdoor furniture in Portugal, Jardim Vista offers this collection of exceptional garden furniture made of only the highest grade materials, with the full catalogue available to download from its website. Handmade by skilled craftsmen in materials such as teak, woven, stainless steel and Touch Foam – a flexible and comfortable material that's completely weather and water resistant and UV colour stable –, the exceptional collection is available in a wide range of styles and colours to suit any outdoor space. And with an impressive 10-year guarantee, Westminster's elegant garden furniture also represents good value for money.

ARTIFICIAL GRASS AND DECKING BOTH USED TO STUNNING EFFECT

►► winters is the use of artificial grass, which Jardim Vista has featured in a number of its projects due to its immaculate appearance all year round. "It uses no water and there's no maintenance: no cutting, no fertiliser, no treating it with pesticides, and that has huge savings," explains Richard Westcott, landscape architect and founder of Jardim Vista.

To best enhance your outdoors without the added maintenance, another excellent option is the company's selection of artificial decking, provided by the world-leading brand in polymer solutions, Rehau. Using innovative WPC composite material (Wood-Polymer-Composites), the decking has a longer life and lasting durability, good weathering resistance and is easy to clean, with prices matching traditional hardwood decking.

Also providing an impressive assurance is lighting company Hunza, which Jardim Vista now represents. Engineered by hand in New Zealand, the high-quality outdoor and landscaping lighting range features over 60 discreetly styled low-voltage lights with a host of features to best enhance your surroundings. Boasting extreme durability and timeless style, the weatherproof products carry a five-year guarantee for powder-coated fittings and a 10-year guarantee for Hunza Luminaires in copper or 316 stainless steel.

"This introduction of new features gives us more capacity in terms of design, with long-term sustainable products that are market competitive in terms of price, available in a wide range of designs and styles," says managing director Richard. "In difficult economic times such as these, value for money is paramount, and we believe that these sort of products and materials are extremely important." ►►

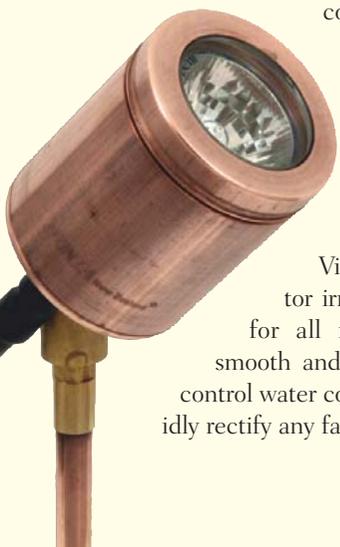

An extension of the popular Deritec Home control system, and with bolt-on features such as CCTV cameras, external lighting control, control of water features, telemetric communication for service callouts and GSM modem for remote monitoring, it is simple yet highly effective. "Until now, so many products on the market don't appear to be user friendly in terms of remote control system, and this is something that's incredibly simple," says Richard.

Speaking of the new features now available at Jardim Vista, the managing director concludes: "All these products give people security in the knowledge that what they've bought is going to last, which is great value for money."

Whilst these high-quality, long-lasting products provide clear peace of mind for the company's clients, the array of styles available and Jardim Vista's expertise in the field mean that each project is unique. "Especially in these financial times, we understand how to design to the advantage of these products so that they look good, and this wide choice ultimately allows us to achieve a great service for the client."

Maintaining its position as leader in the landscaping field for over 20 years, and with a company ethos of combining design excellence and customer service, Jardim Vista continues to stay one step ahead. "We're always trying to lead the way with innovative design, and we feel that these kind of products will fit into that." ■

►► Jardim Vista has also been working closely with Lagos-based technology group Technoloje to develop a new concept in irrigation control, with bespoke software ensuring that each system is tailor-made to suit the needs of each client. Colin Reid, general manager of Technoloje, explains: "The system, unique to Jardim Vista, combines sophisticated control of irrigation zones with careful management and monitoring of water consumption. The system enables the Jardim Vista engineers to monitor irrigation systems online for all its clients to ensure smooth and efficient operation to control water consumption and to rapidly rectify any faults."
